Re "Bieber urges paparazzi limits," Jan. 3

Justin Bieber is not responsible for the dangers created by paparazzi. And the paparazzi would not exist if there were not such an insatiable marketplace for the photos that result from their efforts. They will be more responsible when our culture finds its heroes elsewhere.

You can't legislate culture in a free society. We need to stop demanding legislative remedies that take our freedoms away. Look within and recognize that our values are reflected more by the every day heroes behind the news headlines than by those who amuse us in our leisure.
